PROFILE

I am a highly self-motivated individual with a background in Finance seeking a career in Software development. I developed an interest in the Tech industry and decided to invest in a coding bootcamp in order to further my career. Having spent a year saving up to make this financially viable, I am now training with _nology to become a Junior Software Developer.

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Trainee Web Developer, _nology

Bristol

Sep 2019 — Dec 2019

- Self funded, immersive twelve-week course, designed to produce the best web developers possible in the allotted time.
- Learning and implementing of the skills to the left, in a very collaborative
- I have worked on multiple personal interest projects thus far, URLs available on request.
- Exposure to working in a TDD framework.
- During the course I created and delivered a peer 360 review session.
- As part of the course we created a client MVP:
 - During the project, I was responsible for a large proportion of the expectation management and client interaction
 - Primary library adopted for the project was React.
 - Completed wholly using paired programming principles.
 - Worked in an agile environment, with daily stand ups and weekly retrospectives as well as the use of a Trello kanban board.
